The Tri-State's Largest Manufacturing Show:

The Advanced Manufacturing & Technology Show (AMTS) is the premier manufacturing and technology show in the Ohio / Kentucky / Indiana region. Over the course of two days, AMTS 2006 will bring together more than 2,300 customers and prospects. Attendees use AMTS as their source of what's new in technology and manufacturing. They come to look, and they come to buy! That's why you'll find that AMTS 2006 is the best marketing value for growing your business. It's not only the perfect place to sell, it's the perfect place to partner.

The U.S. Department of Commerce's U.S. Commercial Service will be available during the AMTS show. Come and see us at booth # 310 to find out how we can help your company research foreign markets and increase sales outside of the U.S. In addition, one of our trade specialists will be joining the U.S. Small Business Administration for presentations on U.S. government resources and financing programs for exporters on Wednesday, October 25th at 1:00pm and again on Thursday, October 26th at 11:00am at SBA's booth # 421. For information on how the U.S. Commercial Service can help your company enter new markets or increase sales abroad, contact Debbie Dirr at: ddirr@mail.doc.gov or 937-226-8222.
